

MULTI-AWARD WINNER!

Do you ever wish there is a fun and easy way for your children to get a head start in learning the most in-demand second language in the U.S., if not, in the world?

KINGKA is a memory game using pictographic Chinese characters as its key element for image processing and spatial perception stimulation.

Studies have shown that the younger children learn a second language the better, and their IQ scores improved five points after learning Chinese characters. Learning the characters also developed the brain's math and music centers.

After your children mastered the shapes of circle, triangle and square, try KINGKA for the challenge. This is an interactive board game which busts the myth that learning Chinese is too difficult.

KINGKA is based on Bingo and uses matching and the "excelling oneself" nature of memory games to encourage effective learning.

"I loved the idea of marrying the traditional matching concept with a newer concept of Chinese symbols. I really liked introducing a new language - one that I would not have chosen on my own or been too intimidated to choose. It was fun to work and learn together with my children. Thank you!" iParenting Reviewer

"Kingka is a unique supplement for parents and educators who are looking for a fun tool to learn and practice beginning Chinese with 1 to 6 learners or more, if grouped in teams. Learning Chinese is a worthy goal when considering that more than 1 in 6 people in the world is Chinese." Dr. Toy Reviewer--David Niecikowski, MAED/CI
